

COLLECTIVE SHOW

NEW YORK 2010

COLLECTIVE SHOW is an artist-organized exhibition of contemporary art collectives. This collaboratively curated "group show of group shows" features local artist-run spaces, independent curatorial initiatives, not-for-profit endeavors and web-based groups established in the last decade. Collective Show is an open-source project sponsored by Silvershed, an artist-run project space in New York and Los Angeles. The organizers co-curated ABCyz in October 2009. Collective Show aims to further creative relationships and conjure new ideas by fostering locally-run "collective shows" in art metropolises globally.

COLLECTIVE SHOW NEW YORK

In the spring of 2009, NYC-based artist groups Silvershed, HKJB and The Metric System initiated a conversation among fellow artist-organizers about the surge of independent art collectives and artist-run spaces in New York and other cities around the world. At a time when the art world is in transition, it is particularly interesting and relevant to explore what is essential to art-making, curating and the engagement with participant and audience. These conversations grew over time to include over 50 independent artist groups and dozens of supporters. In October 2009, the founding groups co-curated ABCyz, an exhibition of NYC-based critical contemporary art collectives, curatorial groups and art publishers formed over the past five years. ABCyz evolved into Collective Show to expand the conversation into an open-source project that can be produced in any city.

ABOUT SILVERSHED

Silvershed is an artist-run contemporary art project space, working between New York, Los Angeles and Berlin, as a collaboration for exhibitions, publications and events.

As a process alongside studio work, Silvershed explores social dynamics of increasingly lateral altruism and exchange of information, ideas and resources among artists, to generate and to connect discussions of contemporary art world values, ethics and aesthetics of the 21st century.

Started in 2008 by Patrick Meagher, Yunhee Min and Oliver Lanz, Silvershed is volunteer organized and a sponsored project of Fractured Atlas, a non-profit arts service organization.

Silvershed graciously accepts accepts tax-deductible contributions.

ABOUT PARTICIPANT INC

Founded in December 2001 as an educational corporation and not-for-profit alternative space, PARTICIPANT INC seeks to provide a venue in which artists, curators and writers can develop, realize and present ambitious projects within a context that recognizes the social and cultural value of artistic experimentation. The mission of PARTICIPANT INC is to serve artists through in-depth consideration, presentation and the publishing of critical writing; and to introduce this work into public contexts through exhibitions, screenings, performances and educational programs. Our mission builds upon alternative space methodologies, particularly a commitment to interdisciplinary, intergenerational exhibition making and an insistence upon placing together, in one space, work from various mediums—encouraging the coexistence of visual and time-based art. The programming priorities of PARTICIPANT INC reflect the premise that artists produce significant work through a deep relationship with an organization whose focus is its committed collaborations with them. By encouraging experimentation and project-based exhibitions for artists at many different stages of their careers, PARTICIPANT INC strives to address the changing context of alternative arts presenting and to respond responsibly to the diverse practices of artists. FOUNDED July 2008

MISSION Artist Curated Projects (ACP) was conceived of by Eve Fowler and Lucas Michael. The goal is to support and nurture a community of artists –their projects and ideas– outside of a conventional art gallery or institutional venue; a space removed from the commercial pressures often attached to the experience of showing/curating/viewing art. Shows are curated by artists, with the intention of creating a shared space where artists can develop their curatorial ideas, show the work of their peers, while promoting, engaging in dialogue and creating connections among artists from multiple disciplines and at different stages of their practice.

MISSION BOFFO is a non-profit arts and culture organization based in New York City. Our goal is to provide exposure for artists and designers through exhibitions and events, create a community for artists and designers to network and to explore a subject matter that educates and informs the public. In reaching these goals, we hope to foster collaborations between creative professionals, media resources and critical theorists, enabling meaningful discourse while extending the boundaries of art and design.

As an organization, BOFFO utilizes temporary locations for events and exhibitions, constantly moving, redefining both physical and theoretical parameters. With this structure our artists and designers are given the opportunity to explore many different opportunities. Additionally, every location invites a different audience to participate in activities associated with the organization, giving each event unique, location-specific, characteristics.

MISSION The Holster is a publishing project initiated by Gary Fogelson, Phil Lubliner and Soner Ön. We produce short run artist publications that present a single, focused body of work or document a single event: mostly zines, sometimes books and occasionally posters and prints. Recently, the bulk of our output has been an ongoing series of zines that are printed on demand at book fairs and events and in our studio when orders are placed online. We believe that the methods we use to produce our publications are as important as the work contained inside them.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL is a school with no curriculum. At the moment, it operates as follows: first, classes are proposed by the public (I want to learn this or I want to teach this); then, people have the opportunity to sign up for the classes (I also want to learn that); finally, when enough people have expressed interest, the school finds a teacher and offers the class to those who signed up.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL is not accredited, it does not give out degrees and it has no affiliation with the public school system. It is a framework that supports autodidactic activities, operating under the assumption that everything is in everything.
